To Emigrants

HAVING associated myself with a considerable company for the purpose of settling a new place in the state of Illinois, opposite the mouth of White river and Patoka, at the foot of the Grand Rapids of the Wabash, (MOUNT CARMEL) with an intention to remove to it, as soon as practicable, I have contracted for the making and burning of 150,000 brick, which I wish put up next season into buildings, and the Bricklayer's and carpenter's work undertaken conjointly, the plaistering and whitewashing included. Lands adjoining the Town, and town lots, at cash prices, and cash, a proportion of each will be given in payment when the work is completed.

Having entered lands for the accommodation of settlers favourable to the views of the settlement, a considerable body adjoining the settlement and town lands, divided into lots of from 10 to 100 and 160 acres each may be had at the Congress prices, with the exception of the interest on the money paid, and a small advance to defray expences, &c.

I wish to employ some persons to enclose or clear lands for me, for which I will pay in lands at cash prices. I have a body of open and timbered lands, that I would lease from 5 to 10 years on advantageous terms to emigrants unable to purchase. A convenient farm to let, by an early application to the Agent may be had.

A canal for boats and water works around the Grand Rapids of the Wabash, a company is forming to commence opening next season, that will afford employment for labourers, and no inconsiderable inducement to capatilist to invest their funds in the establishment. Considerable encouragement and aid have already been tendered for that purpose by emigrants from the Eastern States. The river is open for navigation from this place to New-Orleans all the year.

Application may be made to WM. BEAUCHAMP, the Agent for the establishment, residing in Mount Carmel, or to the subscriber, residing at present in New-port. None need apply but moral characters.

A Most Valuable Estate

FOR SALE.

THAT beautiful estate, commonly known by the name of MONTOURS' or LONG ISLAND, about five miles below Pittsburgh, in the Ohio river, containing in the whole 1,000 acres, is offered for sale. It is divided into three separate tracts, on each of which there are handsome improvements; the land is of the best quality, well timbered, and not subject to overflow. It is universally esteemed, both as to soil and situation, the finest property in the western country. The proprietors would prefer selling the whole in a body, but to suit purchasers, it may be divided into three tracts.

The terms may be known by applying to Major Isaac Craig on the premises, or to the subscriber, who is agent for the proprietors, at his office in Pittsburgh.

WESTERN HOTEL,

No. 228 MARKET STREET,

Sign of General Washington.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he has taken that well known establishment in Market street, next door to the Pittsburgh Mail Stage Office, and lately occupied by Mr. George Yohe. To those who have been accustomed to resort to this house, it is unnecessary to point out its superior advantages. For the information of others we deem it necessary to state that its situation is central, high, healthy and convenient to business; an extensive range of back buildings, consisting of lodging rooms, afford a fine view of the city to the eastward, and admit a free and uninterrupted circulation of air—and what will give them a decided preference in the opinion of many, is the attachment thereto of balconies, so constructed as not only to afford pleasant promenades, but easy means of escape in the event of any necessity from any sudden alarm of fire. The great Western Stages start every morning from the door, and on the premises is one of the best Livery Stables in the city, conducted by Mr. John Tomlinson, where travellers' horses will be faithfully attended to. With these advantages, and some other improvements now making, added to his own unremitted exertions to please, the subscriber confidently hopes for, and very respectfully solicits a share of public patronage.

JOHN GIBSON,

Indiana Jail, December 20th, 1819.

Pittsburgh Gazette

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 11, 1820.

We know of no circumstance that gives us so much pleasure as a European record of any splendid American act.—We have been so much disgusted with the supercilious impertinence of the Edinburgh Review, and with the arrogant misrepresentations of the Quarterly Review co-operating with the contemptible trash contained in the Stage Coach travels of their Ashe, Jansen and Fearon that we turn with delight to any publication from the east of the Atlantic that speaks any thing resembling truth about us. Robert Walsh, Esq. has published a work which will be a hard bone for the London critics; it contains a complete refutation of most of the vulgar charges against us; and for those which are true he has adduced parallel cases from England, compared with which ours "twinkle like the glow-worm" beneath the Ursa major. We have frequently sought to discover what could have given origin to this pretended disdain for every thing American, on the part of a portion of the British people; but we have sought in vain. We have seen many English travellers, some professional gentlemen, and more merchants; we have attempted to investigate their talents and characters for the purpose of discovering some reason for this assumed superiority; but it was all to no purpose. With a few honorable exceptions, some of which exist in our own city, our researches generally terminated in finding the prominent characteristics to be prejudice and contracted illiberality. We are not fond of making national comparisons, but we cannot forbear on this occasion from saying that as far as our knowledge has extended we should be perfectly willing that the American merchant should be placed in the opposite scale with the English merchant, either for breeding, education or information, and to abide by the decision of any disinterested judge. In turning over the 'Christian Observer' for Aug. last, we were much struck with the following article, and as it is in unison with the remarks we have just been making, we cannot resist the wish we have to lay it before our readers It records the conduct of an American in an affair of the most amiable and interesting nature; it presents to us the picture of our countryman, kneeling in a distant land, at the shrine of departed worth, and holds up to view an American enthusiast offering the last tribute to British genius. The subject is most gratifying, and calls to mind the days of Sir Philip Sydney. After this can any Englishman say we have no taste amongst us, without blushing?

"Cambridge.—A monument, by Chantrey, to the late Henry Kirke White of St. John's College, Cambridge, has been erected in All Saints' Church in that town by an AMERICAN gentleman, named Boott. The monument is of white marble; and exhibits, within a medallion, the portrait of Kirke White in bas relief. Below the medallion are the following lines from the pen of the Professor of Modern History.

"Warm with fond hope and learning's sacred flame,
To GRANTA'S bowers the youthful poet came;
Unconquer'd pow'rs th' immortal mind displayed
But worn with anxious thought, the frame decayed
Pale o'er his lamp, and in his cell retired,
The martyr student faded and expired.
O genius, taste and piety sincere,
Too early lost midst duties too severe!
Foremost to mourn was generous SOUTHEY seen:
He told the tale, and show'd what WHITE had been;
Nor told in vain;—for o'er the Atlantic wave,
A wanderer came, and sought the poet's grave.
On yon low stone he saw his lonely name,
And raised this fond memorial to his fame."

The Northern Boundary.

On this subject the Montreal Courant has an article, in which it is stated that, at Highgate, the first station, nearly one mile of territory is gained of the British, "by the deviation of the recent from the ancient line. At Richford mills, the U. States gain nearly half a mile. At Derby the British about one mile, and at the intersection of the line with the Connecticut river, they observe they also gain nearly half a mile.——Bost. Pal.

Strong gates are making for the several entrances to Chester Castle, Eng.; and pieces of cannon have been mounted on the castle.

At a TOWN meeting held at the city of Pittsburgh agreeable to public notice, JOHN DARRAGH, Esq. was called to the chair, and MATHEW B. LOWRIE, Esq. appointed Secretary.—Messrs. HENRY DOANE, GEO. PITTSBURGH, December 24th, 1819.

The above report being read and approved of, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

While we compare the present languishing state of our Manufactures with what they have lately been, we regret to find, on an examination of the facts here exhibited; that in the last four years, a decrease of more than two-thirds has actually taken place.

Therefore, Resolved, That one hundred copies of the foregoing report, together with the proceedings of this meeting, be printed in hand-bills; and that one copy be sent to each of our representatives in Congress, and our state Legislature, with an earnest request, that they will zealously endeavor to have such measures adopted, as will best secure, encourage and protect our Domestic Manufactures.

Resolved, That the editors of news-papers in this city, be requested to publish this statement, that these facts being known to the community at large, may have some tendency to cause them to abandon the use of foreign goods of every kind, which, we must consider, as a principal cause of our present embarrassments.

Resolved, That the gentlemen who furnished the report, are entitled to the thanks of the community, for the satisfactory manner in which they have discharged the assigned them,

JOHN DARRAGH, Chairman.

LONDON, NOV. 26.

AFRICA.—We understand a negociation is pending between the emperor of Morocco and a foreign power, which has engaged an English gentleman to open a communication on a grand commercial scale with Tombuctoo and Sundan; this gentleman is to proceed through Fas to Tafililt, where he is to have letters of protection and hospitality from the emperor of Morocco to the Arabian Sheiks of Sahara and Bled el Jereed, and letters of credit to the company of Fas merchants established at Tombuctoo.

The Journey is to be commenced from the imperial palace at Tafililt on heireis. Four of these animals are to be purchased expressly for the journey, and each is to carry forty pounds weight of rice and other provisions, besides the riders, who are to be Sheikes of Sahara, each of which is to receive on arrival at Tombuctoo one thousand dollars, or an equivalent in gold dust. The gentleman who has undertaken this journey speaks with confidence of its success, and he calculates to perform it in fifteen days' actual travelling. He purposes to remain at the imperial palace of Tafililt fifteen days, to accustom himself to the rough motion of the heiries.

It is proposed to travel from Tafililt to Tata in three days, and there sojourn three days; then travel three days to East Tayrasa, and sojourn three days; then to Taudeny in three days, and sojourn there three days; then three days to the well of Arawon, and sojourn there three days; and then complete the journey in three days more to Tombuctoo.

This journey will be commenced in February next, and will end in March. During the residence of the chief of the expedition at Tombuctoo in the summer and autumn, one of the Sheiks on a heirie is to be dispatched to Houssa, Waajara, and Darbeida, on the coast of the Red Sea; another is to be dispatched southward to Benin and New Calabar; a third will proceed through the heart of Africa to Sofala, on the eastern coast opposite the island of Madajascar, from whence he will return to the head quarters at Timbuctoo; the Sheik who undertakes this last journey has engaged to perform it in three months, to and from Sofala to Tombuctoo, & to collect every information necessary during their progress; the 4th heirie will remain at Tombuctoo, to negociate with the king and others as opportunity may offer; the travellers will receive the necessary instructions how to collect geographical and commercial knowledge, and then to return to the chief of that expedition at Timbuctoo, who will accompany them back to Tafililt.

This expedition is connected with a plan to land afterwards five hundred men at a spot in Sahara, eligible for a colony, where the commercial communication, will be immediately opened with Tombuctoo & Sudan.

The English gentleman speaks with the utmost confidence of success, to which his general knowledge of the natives and language will not a little contribute. We only regret that the undertaking has not originated with the British government, because we think that at this period and accredited agent from our government competent to his purpose would have had more influence with the emperor of Morocco, than one from any other power in Christendom.

We shall be enabled in a short time to announce the names of the travellers, with further particulars of this new mode of travelling; it is calculated that the whole expenses of this journey will not exceed 400,000 dollars, the subscription for which sum is nearly completed, and the names of the subscribers will shortly be made public.

Mr. Owen of Lanark, stated, at a recent meeting in London, that 200,000 pair of hands, with machinery, spin as much cotton now, as forty years ago, without machinery, would have employed 20,000,000: that is to say, 100 to 1—that the cotton spun in a year, at this time, in this country, would require without machinery, at least 60,000,000 hands, with single wheels; and that the quantity of manufactured work of all sorts, done by the aid of machinery in this nation, is such as would require, without that aid, the labour of at least 400 000,000 of manufactures. How impolitic therefore, and absurd must be any plan of benefiting the nation by reducing machinery which is so vast a source of national and individual wealth!

MESSRS. EDITORS—By giving the following lines an insertion in your useful paper you will much oblige a reader.

A FRAGMENT OF FACTS.

Walk to yonder jail! Who sits there with an emaciated frame, a revolting countenance and a dispirited soul? It is an American citizen. Ask for the record of his crime, the turnkey tells you his distress, poverty, a debt of five dollars. This is the son of liberty! approach him—Who immured you here? Mr. ——, and he is worth thirty thousand dollars—and this is our boasted philanthropy.—How came you indebted to him? He supplied me with necessaries of life from his store, when I was sick, and before I could recover my strength to work to pay him, he issued an execution against me, and this is our law, this is our justice, Much of my intercourse in jails furnish instances very similar to the above, and the records of the debtors' apartments are as much like the 'roll of a book,' in Ezekiel's vision; when spread open, it appears 'written within and without;' and the writings therein, are 'lamentations, and mourning and woe.'

You begin to feel the working of compassion, and resolve upon the innocent prisoner's liberation. As you are walking home to adopt and execute the necessary measures, you see a pile of chairs, and a gridiron, a frying pan, and a cradle, a candlestick, and an axe, &c. standing before the door of some grog shop.—Presently you behold a decent female, in tears and half distracted, surrounded by five weeping and comfortless children. At length the 'abomination of desolation' is set up, and 'going, gone,' fills the street with discordancy, and the indignant frowns of sympathy and rectitude You enquire whose trifles are thus sacrificed for naught? & lo! it is your prisoner's wife, and her last support; her husband has been helpless in jail three months, her quarter's rent is become due, the unfeeling storekeeper is assisted by the marble hearted landlord, and while the man withers in the dungeon, she and her children may freeze in a ditch. You recoil with horror, as I have done—arrest the proceeding, pay the amount of his freedom, and of her restoration to her cottage—blush for your laws, wonder at your indolent, insensible legislators; & for once in your life return to your fireside & thank the Lord for his hope, that he has honoured you by making you the instrument of doing good—the same mercy which you have exemplified to others, will be shown to you. So be it.

PITTSBURGH.

Tuesday, Jan. 11, 1820.

Nothing of public import has as yet been done in congress; the great questions affecting our portion of the United States, have not been hinted at. It appears however that what is called the Missouri question will occupy more than its proper share of the attention of the present congress; for this however this body will not be to blame, as it is forced upon them in the most imposing form by almost every state north of the Delaware as well as by Pennsylvania. The question is one which will admit of great excitability on both sides; it is one also which we fear will bring into play all the distinctive feelings which exist in the country, and which it would be happy for us, if we could neutralize. It is to be hoped that there will not be very many long speeches, at all events against the admission of slavery, as this side has been already so ably handled particularly by Mr. King; indeed this gentleman has left nothing more to be said, and his proposition is viewed by many of our ablest men as unanswerable. For the sake of amity and of the future prosperity of Missouri it would be well if slavery were not to be sanctioned: on the other hand we candidly confess, that in our opinion, the interference of congress will be productive of some very dangerous effects.

We cannot help on this occasion observing that those men who pretend to such anxions about manufactures in our different legislatures would exert themselves on this subject with the same spirit which they display on the Missouri question; we do think that it would be attended with most beneficial consequences. Without something of this kind, we have knowledge we have but faint hopes, Mr. Monroe's message being a damper.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Michilimackinaw, (Michilimackinack) to his friend in the town of Providence, (R. I.) dated October 10, 1819.

"When I last wrote you, I little tho't that would be on a subject which is calculated to excite the consternation of many, and gratify the curiosity of the The 6th inst may emphatically be called by the inhabitants of this island, a dark day—the following is a transcript of the notes made at the time.

October 6—8 o'clock, A. M. wind fresh S.E a thick misty atmosphere and rain—half past 10, wind in the same quarter and beginning to grow unusually dark—12 o'clock, the darkness has increased so considerably as to attract the attention of every person—half past 1 o'clock, a man cannot be recognized at two yards, though objects are obscurely visible at a much further distance—1 o'clock, the darkness has increased so much, that objects cannot be discerned at a foot from the eye, in a large room with three windows; candles are lighted in every house, the fowls have gone to roost, and all nature has assumed the appearance of night, half past one, P. M darkness still continues, the atmosphere is loaded with a rolling dense vapour, threatening an approaching storm; at this period the wind changed to S. W. and in a few moments after, the darkness began to diminish, so that objects are obscurely seen two or three hundred yards; the sun's rays appear feebly to penetrate the thick vapor with which we are surrounded, and the whole sky, from the zenith to the horizon, is of a beautiful orange colour, which contrasted with the dark scenery below, presents one of the most interesting spectacles the imagination can conceive—2 o'clock P. M. sky and darkness same as half past 1—wind continuing in the same direction—a few minutes after two began to rain and darkness to increase, so that within doors it was almost as dark as night—half past 2, since two o'clock the darkness has increased and diminished at intervals, but at no time could one read or write without a candle—half past 3 has grown quite light, wind fresh S. W. and some rain—3-4 past two, so dark that I had to light a candle to finish this note—half past 3, P. M. clear S. W. and sunshine.

"I will account for this phenomenon, if you bear in mind the surcharged state of the atmosphere with vapour, on the morning of the 6th, and the sudden change of the wind at half past 1—there had been, no doubt, two currents of air stretching across Lake Huron and Michigan, in opposite directions, and the effect produced accumulation of vapour, which would of course be concentrated in the vicinity, where the opposing currents met. This accumulation and condensation of vapour was so great as to be impervious to the sun's rays; hence the darkness; its increase and diminution after two o'clock, may be explained by the opposing a great or less quantity of vapour, at given times."

Progress of Indian Cultivation.

Statistical account of the Brothertown, Stockbridge, South Settlement of the Oneida, and Onondaga tribes of Indians, taken in the year 1813.

The Brothertown tribe consists of 302 persons: these have about 2000 acres of land cleared and in cultivation. They are considerably advanced in agricultural knowledge, and have 90 cows, 30 horses, 16 yoke of oxen, 93 young cattle, 88 sheep, and great number of swine; they have one grist-mill, two saw-mills, 16 framed houses, and 18 framed barns. 21 ploughs, 17 sheds, 3 carts, and 3 waggons; four of them are carpenters, two blacksmiths, four shoemakers, two tailors, and five weavers; their manufactures the last year were 325 yards of woollen and 600 of linen cloth; and their produce was about 11,800 bushels of grain of various kinds, and 3,400 bushels of potatoes.

The Stockbridge tribe consists of 475 persons; they have about 1200 acres of land cleared; they have one grist-mill, 2 saw-mills, 3 framed houses, 7 framed barns, 25 horses, 20 pair of oxen, 54 milch cows, 44 young cattle, 56 sheep, and 50 swine; and their produce was 2500 bushels of grain.

The south settlement of the Oneida tribe (being that part of the tribe to which the attention of Friends has been especially directed,) consists of 440 persons; they have 500 acres of land improved; 6 framed barns, one mill, two waggons, 10 ploughs, 25 horses, 24 oxen, 33 cows, 118 young cattle, 40 sheep, & 100 swine; and their produce was 3000 bushels of grain.

The Onondaga tribe consists of 250 persons; they have about 500 acres of land cleared and cultivated; they have six pair of oxen, 10 cows, some young cattle; their produce 1850 bushels of grain. This settlement has distinguished itself for its sobriety, there being but few of its members that have been known to be intoxicated for considerable time past.

Since the above account was made out, these people have improved considerably in agricular, and in mechanical knowledge. A saw-mill has been erected in the Onondaga settlement, and a great improvement has been made by the women of the Stockbridge and Oneida south settlement, in spinning & weaving. In 1817, the Oneida women manufactured 230 yards of cloth, and 30 coverlids, and had 260 runs of yarn on hand.

Their progress in manufactures has been much facilitated by spinning schools, which have been taught in Oneida and Stockbridge; and one has been more recently opened at Onondaga, which is likely to produce the same beneficial result.—Argus.

A letter from New-Orleans of the 4th inst. says 'We hear of the sale of a large parcel of cotton at 17 cents for bills on New-York at 60 days. The new crop of sugar, which is better in quality than for many years past, sells at 8 cents.

We understand, that, during the severe snow storm last week, the carrier of the Northern mail, in crossing the Highlands, about 5 miles above Warren's, lost his horse, and was himself much frost bitten. The horse had plunged into so deep a snow bank, that he could not be extricated by the driver, and in that situation he froze to death.

ROBBER CAUGHT.

On Thursday night last, captain Hoyt, of the packet Franklin, was waked by the footsteps of some one in the cabin; and on calling to his stewart, for a light, discovered a villainous looking Spaniard endeavouring to make his escape up the companion way He was instantly seized and bound. On searching his person, various instruments for forcing doors and picking locks, a tinder box, matches, &c. were discovered. He was turned over to the city guard, and sent to the guard-house. We would caution shipmasters to secure their cabin doors before retiring to rest, as such plunderers are very frequent in our harbor.

SINGULAR EXPLOIT.

A singular conflict with a large Panther is related to have taken place a few days since, in Jefferson county. Mr. Rich, formerly the conductor of a newspaper in Watertown, went out to examine some traps which had been set for wolves, and found a panther caught in one of them. He returned and procured a friend to accompany him, for the purpose of bringing in the animal alive. When they arrived at the trap, they found that the panther had disengaged itself and escaped. They soon discovered it at no great distance Mr. Rich advanced towards it, and his companion retired and left him. Mr. R. fired and shot the panther through the head. Having discovered what he supposed to be another, he instantly loaded and fired again, but found he had mistaken his object Immediately, however, he perceived a large one advancing towards him, which sprang at him fiercely, with its mouth open, before he could load his piece. He thrust his hand into the mouth of the panther, and caught hold of its tongue. The panther scratched furiously but Mr. R kept his hold, until he took from his pocket a jack knife, which he opened with the assistance of his teeth, and cut the throat of the panther. Both the panthers were afterwards brought into Watertown. Mr. R. was badly scratched, and his clothes nearly torn off. Putnam's exploit with the wolf, was a 'fool to this.'

RUSSEL COLVIN YET LIVES.

The 23d inst. was hailed with unusual festivity by the inhabitants of Manchester and its vicinity, being the epoch of emancipation of Jessee Boorn from imprisonment for life—and Stephen Boorn from an ignominious death for the supposed murder of Russel Colvin, who arrived in town the evening previous. The concourse was large and respectable: in every countenance was depicted the evidence of unfeigned congratulation at this marvellous deliverance. An indication that a free people are equally anxious to protect the innocent and punish the offender.

The day was closed with an appropriate prayer by the Rev. Mr. Haynes.

ORIGINAL ENTERPRIZE.

Particulars of a voyage made by captain Hudlock, in the brig Retrieve, of Castine, to procure a cargo of ice.

Sailed from Castine, August 13th, for Labrador Coast. Run the shore down for the purpose of finding an ice island. Saw several which were too large. Sept. 11th, anchored near and fastened to an island grounded in about 40 fathoms—Commenced cutting and loading ice. A gale coming on, weighed and made a harbor lat. 53, 30. When the gale subsided, another island drove in near us,—alongside of which we anchored, the island having got aground in 30 fathoms.—The island rolled very much, and by our cutting on one side, when nearly loaded it rolled heavily from us, and a prong 20 or 30 feet from the main body of the island lifted the ship about six feet, and set her aleaking, so that one pump was kept going. Expected to have to discharge and abandon the undertaking;—but in the course of a day or two she began to tighten, and we continued to proceed in loading from the same island—completed & sailed for St. Pieres, Martinique, and arrived at the close of Oct The vessel being very leaky, and owing to the time of the year, lost a little before we arrived; but if the vessel had not been leaky should have arrived with the whole cargo. The dangers and difficulties attending the undertaking were great, on account of the height of the island above water, their unsteadiness, and various plans for getting the ice. The only one by which we could succeed was to send part of the crew on the island, and get off large lumps with crow bars and axes, precipitate them into the sea, and afterwards hoisting them on board from the salt water. Capt. H undertook an engagement with the gentleman who has the privilege of supplying Martinique with ice. The stock falling short, capt. H. was employed to attempt to obtain a cargo in the above manner, on condition that he was to have a certain sum, whether he succeeded or not. The Retrieve arrived in Boston harbor on Sunday, from Martinique.

LONDON, Nov. 21.

The following circular letter has been issued by the Provost of Glasgow, calling upon the citizens to enroll themselves for military service in case of necessity.

"The present alarming situation of this part of the country makes it generally apprehended that it may become necessary to call for the active aid of the loyal and well disposed part of the community, to suppress the attempts of the turbulent and disaffected.

"Circumstances may occur which may render the removal of a large part or the whole of the regular military force quite indispensable, and, in such a case, the city would be left without any protection whatever.

"In this situation it has been judged proper to call for a pledge of service from every individual who can afford, without pay, to take up arms in defence of his King and country—of the peace and tranquility of this city—and of his own life and property.

An Interesting Spectacle.

KILLARNEY, Nov. 3.

This morning, a most interesting spectacle took place at the convent of Saint Ursular of this town. It being previously understood that three young ladies, of great beauty, of the most amiable manners, and of connexions highly respectable, were to undergo the ceremony of what is called—'The White Veil'—the convent was accordingly, notwithstanding the earliness of the hour (5 o'clock A. M.) crowded to excess by all the beauty and fashion in the neighborhood Several protestant ladies attended, who were, as is usual on these occasions, placed in the most advantageous situations, for witnessing a ceremony that never fails to excite the liveliest feelings of sensibility. The young devotees sat in front of the grate, atrired in all the pomp and elegance of modern fashion, their head dresses consisting of feathers, pearls and diamonds, tout ensemble of which received no small addition from the symmetry of their persons, and the extreme beauty of their countenance. High mass was celebrated in the most impressive manner, whilst the responses made by the female choristers, in unison with a grand piano, and a select band contributed not a little to the solemnity of the scene. It would be no easy matter to depict the sensations experienced by the paralyzed spectators, upon the return of those interesting females from an inward apartment, which they were supposed to have deposited the garb of fashion and the pomp of dress, as symbols of their relinquishing the society of the world for ever. In spite of the sombreness of their newly assumed attire, (the sable robe and white veil) yet were the blooms of youth and the power of beauty too conspicuous not to insure, as they had called up, the unspeakable admiration of the anxiously gazing assembly. A more affecting spectacle was seldom witnessed, there being scarcely a lady present, whose tears did not bear testimony of a sympathizing farewell to the lovely nuns. Two of the young ladies, Misses Harriet and Margaret Lombard, are the daughters of George Lombard, Esq. of this town, and nieces to Daniel Cronin, of the Ark, Esq. and the other young lady, Miss Callaghan, is also the daughter of a highly respectable family in the county of Cork.

INTERESTING.—We copy the following from the Star, a St. John's paper of the 30th ult.

"On Sunday evening, a robust young woman habited as a servant, was found in the Methodist Chapel before closing the doors, in a state of somnolency, and was afterwards found, lockjawed—in that situation she was conveyed to the Alms House, where medical aid and every effort was tried to bring her to, but without effect, until last evening about six o'clock when she awoke in a crying fit. On being asked if she would have a drink of water, she nodded assent, and shortly afterwards made signs for a pen and ink, which being given her she wrote the following sentences in a very fair hand:—'Belong to Belfast, in Ireland—I am only 9 days from Windsor—I am going 15 miles off where sister lives, but cold and frost hinder me to travel—I went to meeting last night, and got a drink of water in a house and I found a sickness on myself, but I have lost my Speech—I want to go out of this house—I was cast away at Cape Negro—my name is Mary Ann Massenden, my father and mother live in New York—they wrote for me, I could not get to them—my sister lives here and married a farmer—I want to see them—I am single—22 years of age.'

"We saw her this morning, when she added her age as above. The delicacy of her hands indicate that she has not been used to hard labour; she continues in a shivering state, and up to the time our paper was put to press her power of speech had not returned."

DELHI, (Del. Cy, N. Y.) Dec. 23.

Symptoms of old fashioned honesty reviving.

A farmer of German extraction, came into our Village the other day with honey to sell—he fixed his price at 12-12 cents per pound, and made several sales at that price; but finding the market rather dull he sold off the remainder at ten cts per pound. Turning to the last purchaser he enquired, 'who lives in that house, and that' (pointing to the houses of the first buyers.) 'I sold Mr. ——, ——, 10 lbs he must have 25 cents.' Why must you return this money? 'because,' replied the honest yeoman, 'It wont't do to make fish of one and flesh of another.'

TOWN OF AMERICA.

THE undersigned, owner of a large number of squares, half squares, and lots in the above town, and of about five hundred acres of land adjoining to it, proposes to sell to actual settlers, any number of lots, not exceeding one hundred; and several out lots of twenty acres each, on terms highly calculated to promote the interest of the purchasers. He is also authorized to sell on liberal terms and in small tracts, seven thousand acres of excellent land, lying about the Town and in its immediate neighborhood.

This town is situated in the fork of the Ohio and Mississippi, on the bank of the former, and on the first piece of high ground above their junction.

No person of any reflection has ever looked upon a map of North America without being struck with the mighty confluence of water which is exhibited at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi: and the natural sentiment that a great city must grow up at that point has only been checked by the apprehension that the place was annually inundated. The apprehension was incorrect. The town scite and the back country are free from inundation, and both are now settled and are constantly increasing in population. The town has been selected for the seat of Justice for the county of Alexander in which it is situated, and both the county and circuit courts are, and will be held there The neighboring country is well settled, not by a detached population, but by connected settlements spreading into the interior of the state of Illinois.

The mind is therefore free to expatiate upon the advantages of this situation, and the undersigned can leave it to any man of sense and candor to say whether any point upon our continent has ever presented a fairer prospect of a greater inland commercial city?

Situated on the first high ground above the confluence of the noblest streams in America—at a point from which large steam boats can at all times descend to New Orleans—with a rich back country to support it—and a numerous population now covering the adjacent country, and it is difficult to assign a reason why this town should not in a few years rank with the first in America.

Besides its water communications it may reasonably count upon the advantage of seeing pass through it the great road which will be required to facilitate the intercourse between the Upper and the Lower Mississippi. Authentic information authorizes the assertion that the country south of the Ohio is entirely practicable for a road, which can be opened across the west ends of Kentucky and Tennessee through the late Chickasaw purchase and lead to New Orleans over a direct route parallel to the course of the Mississippi.

The undersigned will be upon the spot to sell to actual settlers during the balance of the winter and spring months. He prefers to sell upon the spot, when purchasers can see with their own eyes the advantages of the situation, and therefore will be present at a time when the revival of commerce upon the river and the passing of steam boats will make it convenient for all those to visit the place and examine it for themselves who may wish to become interested in it.

He is also authorised to say that the proprietors, or a part of them, will sell at auction, on the ground, on the third Monday in April next, being the first day of the Circuit court, ONE HUNDRED LOTS; one third of the purchase money to be paid in hand, one third in six, and one in twelve months, to raise a fund for improving the place, to which the whole proceeds of the 100 lots will be applied.
